

JESH KRISHNA MURTHY

Jesh Krishna Murthy is one of India's leading VFX and Animation experts. Jesh began his career over 15 years ago in the field of Animation having studied Animation in Canada where he graduated topping his class. Since then he has been associated with some of the leading companies globally including Toybox (Now Technicolor), Spin, and the Oscar winning studio, Jim Henson's Creature shop. In his long stint abroad Jesh has worked on numerous award winning features and commercial projects including Batman Begins, Tomraider, The Arrow, Existenz, Are we There Yet? Etc.

Since his return to India 3 Years ago, Jesh founded Anibrain which in a short span of time has become India's leading VFX studio having delivered work on 15 + Hollywood features including Highlander, Resident Evil : Extinction, John Woo's The battle of the Re Cliffs and Ang Lee's Lust Caution which won the Golden Lion at the Venice Film festival in 2007.

Anibrain currently has offices in Pune and Mumbai and is involved in 4 major Hollywood productions for leading studio's.

Jesh has also been a guest lecturer at the Vancouver Film School, LEAF (London Effects and Animation Festival), FMX, Stuttgart, Escape Studio's (London), Centennial College (London).