

Dr. Saikumar

Dr. Saikumar is a Chief Technology Officer with MphasiS, since June 1999 and has over 20 years of successful experience in large scale information system architecture, design, strategic and operational leadership in unique challenging situations. Sai with his high Visionary capability drives enterprise IT operations through global application of technology integration initiatives, innovation, increased responsiveness and technical thought leadership.

Strategic and versatile technology executive with ability to capitalize on enterprise-level technology utilization coupled with high-profile leadership contributions to Global fulfillment. Creative and results driven Enterprise architect with 20 years of proven scientific, architecture and technology experience contributing to high business impact across the globe for various clients in Finance, Healthcare, Manufacturing, Hi-tech, Retail and Consumer Industries.

Sai is successful technology leader with experience in enhancing enterprise operations, solving complex business problems, and creating competitive advantage through properly aligned technologies. He is Instrumental in providing a vision and perspective on emerging trends. Provided Leadership by example to build and mentor competent global technology teams and practices capable of handling any project while achieving superior results.

Sai joined MphasiS' Global architecture team and has been responsible for enterprise architectures and application architecture around the world – Shinsei Bank at Japan, Singapore Airlines, Diageo, World Bank, Singapore-based Health Group, Tyco and Pfizer.

Sai heads the SOA and Architecture Practices at MphasiS and is currently the Global CTO. Sai has written publications and works with the product design groups of various product companies. Sai has delivered number of seminars with Gartner's and Product vendors.

Dr.Saikumar holds a PhD in Automation Technology and Image Processing from University of Bremen, Germany.